Welsh wines

A recent visit to wales prompted us to put a few welsh wines by the glass.

Ancre Hill estates is certified biodynamic (& is therefore organic) & has been making award winning wines since 2006. They are natural wines with minimum intervention although there is some sulphur used.

We have two reds available a "Pet Nat" or petiant natural - an ancient method of making lightly sparkling wine pre-dating the champagne method, & a still red of the same variety - Triomphe an unusual variety from Alsace that has a wonderful blackcurrant character as well as high acidity, the pet nat in particular is an interesting aperitif.

The chardonnay is a lovely example of the variety giving a lovely yeasty & oaky note whilst being crisp & fresh.
